There are several small typographical and clerical errors which we have not noticed, we will add a specimen of two, and there are several such, and the most of them seem to be unavoidable:

S. B. No. 142 is printed "Senator" bill.....
Prayer by House Chaplain, Dr. Smoot, the word "House" should be omitted on .....

TO THE SENATORS, ET ALS.

We have made several abbreviations, especially in amendments and proposed ones to the Code, as P. C., Penal Code; R. C. S., Revised Civil Statutes; R. S., Revised Statutes; C. C. P., Code Criminal Procedure; P. Q., Previous Question; Q. P. Question of Privilege, etc.

We have printed the bills and joint resolutions in numerical order, with number bills, legislators introducing, both Senate and House, with the pages on which the proceedings, with regard to each, occur, etc. We have arranged the index with regard to these in tabulated form, which we have borrowed from the Congressional Journals, furnished us by the Secretary of State, Hon. J. W. Bains, and which we have modified to suit our rules, with a column of remarks. This will be found a great convenience by all. The manner of arranging bills and joint resolutions of both the House and Senate, we claim as an improvement by us, made partly in the Eighteenth Legislature and partly in this, and which is and will be commonly followed by all. We also publish all the motions in regular order, properly classified, which is another improvement of ours and very important, as almost all legislative matter, however large or small, is put in the form of motions and without this many small matters could not be noted. This and noting the pages on which names occur, of Senators and others, and a general crossing of all names and the subject matter, it is believed, everything can be found in the journals of the least importance. In some of the classes or forms under which the same bill, joint resolution, etc., may appear the pages of the class may be omitted by oversight in the general grouping in the numerical order of arrangement. We spent over a month in hard labor on the journals besides what help the Senate furnished us, and then hired a man ten days to aid us verify and correct the whole index. Then we have read the proof and have done all in our power to make it full, reliable and complete.

WM. NEAL RAMEY,
Secretary Senate
